BASKETBALL CLOSES DIFFICULT SEASON

Stiff Schedule with Variety of Opponents Completed with Honor.

ALMON STAR POINT-GETTER

With the Georgetown game last week, the basketball team closed one of its most successful seasons. While not winning a majority of the games played, the team is to be congratulated on sticking to the schedule after the discouragement occasioned by the loss of two of its best players right at the beginning of the season. Hoppe and Hall, who were expected to be mainstays in the season's campaign were disqualified by the faculty and were required to withdraw.

The team has won, with the exception of two, all games played on the home floor, and lost all, with the exception of two, played on foreign floors. The opening of the season was exceedingly brilliant for a championship team, but as the season wore on the excellence of the play seemed to wane a little and the hopes grew a little dimmer. The season opened with two wins on the home floor from Loyola of Baltimore and Gallaudet College of this city. The game next played with Navy was not expected to be a win, but the score was better than anticipated. The southern trip followed, with one scalp from Washington and Lee, and losses to the Virginia Military Institute and the University of Virginia. The return game with Gallaudet was then played on the Gallaudet floor and lost by two points. The following game with Catholic University was one of the most thrilling ever seen in local basketball circles and resulted in a victory for G. W. U. by a 23 to 20 score in the second extra session. At the end of the first half in this game the score was 12-12; at the end of the second, 18-18; at the end of the first extra session it stood 20-20, and it took the second session to decide the conflict.

The next four games, played with Georgetown, Fordham, Loyola and Catholic University resulted in a victory over the New York boys and losses to the others.

Four games were played on the northern trip, the team matching strength with Franklin and Marshall, Seton Hall, Crescent Athletic Club, and the Army. It was found necessary at the last moment to call off the game which had been arranged with that school. On the northern trip the team defeated the Franklin and Marshall team, and dropped the other three games. The Crescent Athletic Club turned out to be an aggregation of old basketball rounders of intercollegiate fame and had little trouble in taking the cake away from the Varsity. The Army game was very good, but, although the team apparently had the ball its way during most of the game, it did not seem to be able to find the baskets.

Following the northern trip two games were played, one with Georgetown and one with Virginia, both of which we were obliged to forfeit.

It was particularly gratifying to the authorities of the basketball situation to be enabled to stage a Georgetown-George Washington game. The two games played this year marked the resumption of athletic relations after a breach which existed for six years. These games will no doubt be the feature of the basketball season.

MUCH INTEREST AT CHEMISTS' MEETING

Dr. M. X. Sullivan Receives Cordial Welcome From Chemical Society.

BALTIMORE TRIP IN APRIL.

On Wednesday, March tenth, the Chemical Society held its regular meeting in Hall No. 1, of the Medical Building on H Street. This meeting was a special one in that Dr. M. X. Sullivan of the Bureau of Soils was the speaker of the evening.

Dr. Sullivan delighted his audience with the way he handled his subject, "Some New Aspects of Bio-Chemistry." In his instructive and interesting manner, he spoke for an hour, showing how the same laws govern chemical reactions in both vegetable and animal organisms. The meeting was very well attended, cards having been sent out to most of the alumni members of the Society.

After the paper many questions were asked by the members present, which Dr. Sullivan answered in a clear manner.

On last Saturday afternoon, more than thirty members of the Chemical Society attended the annual trip to the gas plant to study the chemistry of the manufacture of coal and water gas as carried on in the District of Columbia. Everybody declared that a very interesting and instructing trip had been had.

President John Francisco Brockwell of the Society is now engaged in making arrangements and preparations for the annual trip to Baltimore of the Chemical Society, jointly with the Engineering Society, which will probably be Saturday, April 17. These organizations every year visit in Baltimore the pharmaceutical factory of Sharp and Dohme, the electrolytic copper works, and the steel plant down on Sparrow's Point. As usual, all the members of these societies are anticipating eagerly the interest and enjoyment of this trip.

Von Zielinski Goes to New Post.

Carl M. J. Von Zielinski, A. B. '13, A. M. '14, Vice and Deputy Consul of the United States, who has been stationed at Bradford, England, has been appointed to serve at the Consulate General at Genoa, Italy. He went to his new post the early part of the current month.

FEW STUDENTS SEE SUCCESSFUL SHOW

"Sweet Lavender" by G. W. U. Players Enjoyed By Only Small Number.

ABOUT $75 CLEARED.

Playing two nights with a production and an execution that would equal Poli's best, the George Washington University Players presented "Sweet Lavender" last Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the National Rifles Armory on G street.

From start to finish, the performance was a faultless presentation of Arthur Wing Pinero's popular comedy. Dorothy Wheeler in the title role, and Detlow Marthinson as the leading man, Clement Hale, the lovers of Temple Bar Inn, made a particularly fetching pair. The part of a London physician, Dr. Delany, was excellently portrayed by R. B. Meckley, of the Law School. Carl Butman was exceedingly clever as Bream, an ardent young American, and Alden Wheeler rendered in a delightful fashion the exceedingly difficult part of Richard Phenyl, the roommate of Hale. Dorothy McCleary was commended again and again as she acted the part of the wealthy young Miss Giffillan, and Esther Galbraith played successfully the very difficult part of Mrs. Rolt.

Alden M. Wheeler, the director, deserves great credit for his skillful work in handling the players and staging the show.

Director of Athletics McNemar expressed disappointment at the failure of a large part of the student body to support the show. The gross receipts will probably come to about $200, of which $75 will be clear.

ARCHITECTS' MEETING POSTPONED A WEEK

Edward Clarence Dean to Address the Architectural Club Next Tuesday.

The meeting of the George Washington University Architectural Club, which was to have been held last Tuesday evening, was postponed until next Tuesday evening, March 23, on account of the University play of "Sweet Lavender" on that night. It will be held at the same place, the Alpha Beta Phi fraternity house, 2022 F Street, at 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Edward Clarence Dean will talk before the club at this meeting on "The Method of Judgment of Beaux Arts Drawings and What is Needed for Mentions."

SWETT TO ASSIST GLEE CLUB.

Professor in Chemistry Department to Lend Helping Hand to University's Musicians.

Otis Dow Swett, M. S., Assistant Professor of Chemistry in the University, and for years connected with local musical interests, has consented to oversee in a general way the rehearsing and training of the University Glee Club. One of the main drawbacks so far is that the Club has had to rely on a leader from the student ranks; having a leader from the faculty will eliminate this difficulty and should result in the giving of a great impetus to the club. President Terry has issued a call for more singers now at the time when concentration is being made on the spring effort. Every man in the school who can sing is entitled and urged to join the Glee Club.

GIRLS' TEAM ADDS ONE MORE VICTORY

Woman Goal-tossers Wallop Fort Loudon Seminary Second Time This Season.

MEET GALLAUDET SATURDAY.

With the inspiration and enthusiasm given by an overwhelming crowd of spectators, the Girls' Varsity last Saturday walked away with the long end of a 28 to 6 score against the team representing the Fort Loudon Seminary of Winchester, Virginia, at the gymnasium of the latter. From the start to the finish the local aggregation had the game its way and came down to the close with a whirlwind finish. The spectators included all the girls of the Fort Loudon Seminary, dressed in cap and gown, many of the principal citizens of the town, and a large delegation of the boys from the Shenandoah Valley Academy, who gave a snake dance after the game, and entertained all the spectators with their bugles.

The Fort Loudon girls, after their defeat at the hands of the girls' team here on the next to the last day of February, had recovered their nerve and expected to have a little more even battle on their own floor, but the game was just as one-sided as most of the games the girls have played this year, and G. W. walked off with the cake.

The splendid playing of Miss Hotchkiss and the excellent goal-throwing of Miss Seibold were responsible in large part for the success of the team. Miss Reeve was unfortunately thrown down and one of the opponents succeeded in stepping on her face.

The summary is as follows:

G. W. U.	Ft. Loudon.
Field	Wilkinson
Reh	Albright
Reeve	Logan
Seibold	Smith
Hotchkiss	Carr
Craig	Lewis

Goals from foul: Seibold (2), Logan (2). Goals from floor: Reeve (2), Seibold (11), Logan, Smith. Referee: Mr. Jeffries, Winchester High School; Umpire, Agnes Carter, G. W. U.; time keeper: Miss Best, Fort Loudon Seminary. Linesmen: Major Lewis, Shenandoah Valley Academy; Mrs. Dicus, G. W. U. Score-keeper, Miss Mary Tyndall, G. W. U.

On Saturday at 11 o'clock in the morning, the scrub team meets the Eastman School team, and at three o'clock in the afternoon the regular team plays its return game with Gallaudet. This latter game promises to be one of much interest and the girls are expecting a large turnout from among the men and women of the University.

On a week from Saturday, at 7:30 p. m. the team plays in the Epiphany gymnasium the return game with Temple University of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. All of these teams have been whipped by our team already this year on their own floors.

these lectures will be illustrated by lantern slides. The program is as follows: March 18, 4:45, "The Volcano Kilauca in Action," Arthur L. Day, Carnegie Institution; March 24, 4:45, "Nematodes, Their Relations to Mankind and to Agriculture," N. A. Cobb, Department of Agriculture; April 1, 4:45, "High Explosives and Their Effects," Charles E. Munroe, George Washington University; April 8, 4:45, "Insects and Their Relation to Disease," W. D. Hunter, Department of Agriculture; April 16, 8:30, "The Earth," R. S. Woodward, president of the Carnegie Institution.

YOUR GLEE CLUB.

The George Washington University Glee Club, which has been struggling along for several years with student leadership, has made a step in the right direction in obtaining the services of a professor in the University to oversee the work of the club. Many men have felt it would be more than they could do to spare time to join a musical club which was solely a student affair, but now that they can be assured that they will receive real training (gratis) it is more than likely that many of the modest singers of the school will come out to benefit and be benefited, benefiting the school by the production of more school spirit and an efficient University activity and benefiting themselves by training under a competent instructor of music.

The Hatchet urges that all the male singers of the school join the Glee Club at the beginning of its spring campaign and to help it to make its spring concert a "howling" success. The Glee and Mandolin Clubs meet every Monday night in the Arts and Sciences Assembly Hall at 8:00 o'clock.

MILITARISM AND THE STUDENTS' CAMP OF INSTRUCTION

EDITOR'S NOTE:—The following letter was written and was in the process of being delivered when the editorial of two weeks ago was written and published:

March 1, 1915.

To the Editors of the Hatchet:

The article, "Militarism and College Men" by Paul Douglas, which appeared in the February 26th issue of the Hatchet, has interested me, and as a college man and one who attended the Students' Military Instruction Camps (1913-14) referred to, I desire to refute statements made.

First, what is militarism? Militarism, as defined by the Standard Dictionary, is "the giving of undue prominence to military training and glory; maintenance of government by military force." Certainly the past, present and future military policy of the United States never has or will justify the use of the word "militarism" as applied to it.

Second, what is the military policy of the United States? Certainly it is not one of aggrandizement; many have said that we have none.

It was stated that "we have seen a system of international relationship founded on fear—and we have prided ourselves upon the fact that we were guided by reason." Nations are merely collections of individuals and their faults and failings are those of the individual members of the state. When crime ceases to exist among the people, then war will cease among nations. Records show that efforts toward peace have accomplished nothing in limiting armaments. For the United States to prohibit the instruction of its youth toward military preparedness would be as disastrous as the employment of children in place of policemen. Would Mr. Douglas have us adopt the policy of China? China, the most despotic of Governments, has no military strength; numbering 400,000,000 people she has been twice conquered by a few despised Tartars, and only a few years ago 20,000 English and French dictated peace at the walls of the capital. Only recently has Japan made exorbitant demands on China, and to whom does she turn? America, the protector of the weak, the emancipator of Cuba. But could we hold this title without proper military strength? Would Spain have vacated Cuba merely by protest? No, Mr. Douglas, the present system of international relationship is not founded entirely on fear, it is largely based on the protection and preservation of the nation. Shall we abolish our police and statutes because the relationship of a certain class of people to them is one of fear? I am afraid that we will have to wait till the millennium before the ideal relationship is reached.

"At crucial times in our country's history, hundreds of thousands of young men have been willing to lay down their lives" and many have done so, a monument to the unpreparedness of the American Nation for war. How many Americans have any conception of the outrageous extravagance in men and money that has characterized our past wars? The United States has been compelled to use approximately 2.5 men to every one of the enemy in its wars. Never in our history have we been prepared for war. A good business man cannot be made in a day or a month; neither can a good soldier. To employ untrained material is always dangerous and very expensive. The survivors of the Civil War know full well what unreadiness means, and they must realize that had the United States possessed 50,000 trained Regulars at the outset, the war would have come to a sudden close.

"College men are not mere bystanders; they are vitally concerned. They comprise a large part of the pawns that the militarists would sacrifice." Yes, indeed, college men are vitally interested; they are leaders in the movement for the establishment of military camps of instruction for college men, known as Students' Military Instruction Camps. And what are the heads of the great institutions of learning doing? They "are not mere bystanders" either. The presidents of Princeton, Harvard, Yale, College of the City of New York, Michigan, Alabama, V. M. I., California and Lehigh, in a letter of recent date, "commend these camps to the attention of college authorities as a most important adjunct to the educational system of the United States, furnishing the student a healthful and profitable summer course at moderate expense." Read a portion of Admiral Stockton's recommendation: "I am heartily in sympathy with the plan of the War Department to have the students' camp, and I have received a great deal of matter from them and other places which confirm my views as to the desirability of students embracing this opportunity for the summer. From my experience in the past in the Naval Service, I believe that discipline, physical exercise and general atmosphere of a camp during the summer will be of great and lasting value to those who embrace the opportunity offered them."

The expenditure of perhaps fifty dollars in money and five weeks in time at one of these student camps by one man represents a greater sacrifice and sincerity of purpose than the mere signing of petitions of protest against military instruction for college men by five hundred. Mr. Douglas speaks of what Columbia has done in the matter of petitioning, what has Princeton done in the other direction? So great is the interest in military instruction there that the students have organized military companies and an officer has been detailed by the War Department to instruct them. College men have shown their approval of these camps by responding 250 strong in the summer of 1913, 600 attending last year and the prospects this year are that between one and two thousand men will attend the four camps to be located at Chickamauga Park, Ga.; Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y.; Ludington, Mich.; all from July to August 8, and one at or near the Presidio of San Francisco, Cal., from June 25 to August 1.

The object of the camps is to give the young men of the country opportunity for a short course in military training, the better to fit them to discharge their military duty should their country ever stand in need of their services. The summer vacation period is selected to enable students to attend with least inconvenience and greatest instructional advantage.

In addition to the above mentioned patriotic motive, there are to be considered the physical benefits to be derived (at less than the usual expense when away from home) from the active, healthful, outdoor life of a military camp. The mentally broadening influences of intimate association with students of other institutions and the opportunity for athletic contests, as well as the novelty of the experience itself, all tend to contribute variety and interest to the program.

The student is certain to increase his business efficiency and hence his economic value through habits thus acquired of discipline, obedience, self-control, order, and command, and the study of organization and administration as exemplified in first-class modern armies.

The cost to students attending the camp is $3.50 per week for board, $5.00 for uniform, and railroad fare. The average cost for the outing of five weeks is $50.00.

Any college man or recent graduate, who is at least 5 feet 4 inches in height and between the ages of 18 and 30, is eligible to attend the camp.

G. W. U. men, get busy! Now is the time to make plans for your summer vacation. Eight G. W. U. men attended the camps last year and voted that the vacation was the best they had ever spent. Fifty men should ball and other athletic seasons of the years to come.

The goal shooting of Almon has been the feature of the season, especially in the early part. The good defensive and offensive work of the guards, Groesbeck and Shaver (Captain), was the backbone of the game and proved the salvation of the team. Johnson's height was an asset at center, although his playing was extremely ragged. Murray's principal stunt was grabbing the ball away from the enemy's passes, but the passing work of the two forwards was not properly co-ordinated.

This marks the close of Schlosser's second season as G. W. U. coach, and his second team has been more successful than his first. He has prepared the following tables of the team's work, which shows in brief form the season's results:

LAW GRADS MEET

TO DISCUSS REUNION

Representatives of the law school classes from 1866 to 1915 met last night at the University club to discuss and lay plans for the coming reunion of all the graduates of the Law school of this university. As announced in the last issue of the Hatchet this is to be a gigantic affair and is expected to eclipse all previous efforts. The date is set for May 1.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION TO HOLD MEETING

Annual Business Session Next Month.

Dean Hodgkins, secretary of the Alumni Association, has announced that the annual business meeting of the Association will be held in the early part of next month in the Assembly Hall of the Arts and Sciences Department. The exact date has not yet been set, but it will be published in the near future.

Preparations for the Annual Banquet of the Association are now being made. It will take place shortly after the business meeting, at which officers for the coming year will be elected. Several alumni will make speeches at the banquet.

PROF. FERSON CHAIRMAN OF BANQUET COMMITTEE

The Law School authorities have begun active work on the annual banquet. Prof. Ferson has been appointed chairman of the faculty committee in charge, the other faculty members being Professors King and Parks.

Each class has been asked to co-operate in appointing three members of the student committee and a meeting of the whole committee will shortly hold a meeting to go over preliminary matters.

The date has not as yet been definitely set but the banquet will be held in the latter part of April. It is intended to cooperate with the committee in charge of the celebration of the Fiftieth anniversary of the Law School and the banquet will probably be a part of the celebration planned.

SAYS UNEMPLOYMENT IS CAUSE OF POVERTY

Prof. H. C. Kirk Before Socialist Club

Says 74 Per Cent Is Due to Jobless Conditions.

Prof. Hyland C. Kirk addressed the Society for the Study of Socialism of George Washington University last Saturday night at the Department of Arts and Sciences Building on "Some Aspects of Present Industrial Developments." Prof. Kirk holds that 74 per cent of the poverty in the United States is due to unemployment at the present time. Speaking of sex relations, after advocating universal suffrage, he said: "Equality and fairness in the relations of the sexes in other particulars should be enforced with the same spirit of common sense as other matters. It is probable that in the economics of the advanced republic divorces will be more easily procured, and from that very fact they may be decreased in number."

DUM DUMS AND SHRAPNEL

By T. S. D.

In all of our exchanges
I spent the deucuva time
Trying to find some changes
Expressed in bewchious rhyme.

But everything was rotten
(Quite like a putrid steak);
And what I could have gotten
Would be an awful fake.

So I'll omit the ditty
That often heads this dope;
And think of something witty
To send my frien' the pope.

To the dissatisfied also-rans for the Sp'inx Song Prize who have been deluging the editor of this sporty colyum with letters demanding reparation, we beg leave to murmur with red blood in our eyes and our hair between our teeth: "Let George do it." (Of course, you have to know who was chairman of the award comm. to get this one.)

Dear Ed: I rambled to the "Speedway" one night the frats did bowl; it made me green with envy, to see the scores they'd roll; and though they seemed in earnest, and bowled with greatest care, I had to call a doctor, when one man made a spare. Yours with love and kisses,
THE COLLEGE RAMBLER.

The Gazette is printing today some verses from our own futurist poet. We long have thought that forward-looking poets should quit writing verses that rime at the end of the line and begin writing forward rime verses. So we have put our own blacksmith on the job. He uses the DeLaval method of separating his ideas from his verse, and we think he has a fairly successful product. We shall offer it to the allies in the hope that it will end the war.

LOVE'S PLEADINGS.

O come, my love, the jitney,
Wait; the nickel's in My purse. My sparker snaps at all the Fates, for better or
For worse.

Let's jit in joy while life
Is June; five coppers pays the bill. So come and jitney 'neath
The moon, along the low-grade till.

While all the world is smooth
As glass, while all our tires are
Stry, there's bliss in every quart
Of gas; let's hit life on
The high.

So come and be my jitney
Queen; a nick is all my Hoard. Who cares for grief or Gasoline? Come mount
My trusty Ford.

DEPARTMENTAL NOTES.

COLUMBIAN COLLEGE.

Margaret Haines is spending the week-end at her home in Allentown, Pa.

At a meeting of the Washington City Alumni Chapter of Chi Omega on Tuesday, March 9, the engagement of Miss Effie Baker, Columbian College, 1912, to Mr. William Lewis of Utica, New York, was announced.

On last Monday night, Miss Agnes Carter, the coach of the Girls' Basketball team, entertained the team at a dance at the home of her sister, Mrs. Keene of Kensington. The trip to and from the house was made in quick time in a machine, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all. Among those present were Misses Theodosia Darling Selbold, Luella Field, Eleanor Reeve, Helen Hotchkiss, Carola Craig, Mary Tyndall and Messrs. Eric Green, George Pullen, Frank Speidel, Monroe Tanner, John McDowell, these men being from the Medical School.

Last night Miss Carola Craig and Miss Eleanor Reeve entertained the remainder of the girls of the team at a delightful party at their home on R Street.

ENGINEERING SCHOOL.

Jose P. Dans, B. S. in C. E. 1914, has been transferred from the Division of Surveys, General Land Office, Department of the Interior, to the Land Department of the Philippine Islands.

He left the city last Monday, and en route will stop off at San Francisco to take in the sights at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. From San Francisco he will sail for the Islands, of which he is a native, and arrive there about May first.

Arnold A. Brand is now with the Interstate Commerce Commission, having been recently appointed in the Bureau of Valuation.

George A. Degnan has received a prize of $5 from the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company for his drawing, which was submitted in the $500 prize Fatima contest, and appears in this issue of the Hatchet.

Thomas W. Noonan visited his home in Troy, New York, last week.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

George G. Bergeron, '16, has replaced "Jim" Collins, '15, as student interne at Casualty Hospital.

George Pullen, '15, is also at Casualty Hospital as student interne.

Dr. Craig, substituting for Dr. Lindsey last week, gave an exceedingly interesting and much enjoyed and appreciated lecture before the Junior Class.

Dr. Philip T. Sae, '14, has succeeded Dr. Fortier, '13, as interne at Columbia.

The engravers and printers are busy at work on the Caduceus. The class editors are requested to turn in their write-ups as soon as possible, since their delay holds up the book.

LAW SCHOOL.

Work on the "Eas Gestat" has progressed to the stage of making up the "dummy" and from present indications the book will be issued at an earlier date than was expected. The size, too, is exceeding expectations, as while it was originally intended to have only about eighty pages present indications are that it will exceed one hundred and twenty.

Two works on International Law, recently written by Admiral Stockton, President of the University, and Charles Noble Gregory, former Dean of the Law School, have called forth unanimous praise throughout the country. Admiral Stockton's book is of particular value at the present time and has already been adopted by Georgetown University as a text book; present indications are that Georgetown's lead will be followed by many other law schools throughout the country. Dean Gregory's article, which discusses the question of the legal right of belligerents to exact contributions from conquered cities, appears in the current number of the Columbia Law Review and was commented on editorially by the New York Times in its Sunday book review. The Times refers to it as a scholarly and interesting article. Dean Gregory is Chairman of the Standing Committee on International Law of the American Bar Association.

A very effective group picture of the student body was made recently, a pneumatic camera and a high elevation giving a distinct likeness of every individual. During the taking Bob Hatch and Greer Marechal performed the Ty Cobb feat of appearing twice in the same picture, by sprinting from one end of the semicircle to the other before the camera had completed its circuit.

At a meeting of the Senior Class, a committee composed of Messrs. B. Smith, Bratton and Stanley was appointed to represent the class on the Law School banquet committee.

One of the moot court attorneys while engaged in looking up authorities for a personal injury case to a waiter found the following reference in one of the digests, "Waiter Girls, see Amusements."

NICHOLS APPEALS TO UNDER CLASSES

HELP! HELP! HELP!

You probably all know something of the movement on foot to clear up the deficit incurred by the Proms of the present Sophomore and Freshman Classes—but have you stopped to think what it all means? Listen! The two classes together owe about one hundred and fifty dollars. This debt affects the University most vitally. The bills are in the hands of collection agencies and this fact places the University and faculty in a most embarrassing position. Then first of all, this debt must be settled out of duty to our school. Here's an opportunity to display a little of your superabundance of school spirit.

Second, to leave debts unpaid would not be fair to future freshman classes, to say nothing of ourselves. If these bills remain outstanding there will be no more freshman proms. Think of it! Why? Because there will be no place where G. W. Freshman credit will be any good.

Therefore, this deficit must be paid. Several have already stepped forward. We thank them. Now, others start stepping, "Step right up front, please." It's a worthy cause and anything and everything from two bits up is thankfully received.

It might be said that those who have already subscribed are among those who did not attend either prom. When the "Parlor-snakes" and "Fox-trot artists" are approached they tell us that they did their duty when they came to the affair. Now let me tell you, if you had all paid for your tickets, there wouldn't be such a deficit. Furthermore, those who did come and pay their way in should still give more because they had a $4.00 time for $2.50. Now, come across. Open up your pocket-books and help us clear up this deficit and thus prepare the way for future Fresh Proms.

H. JANNEY NICHOLS, JR., Chairman of Prom Deficit Committee.

Reporter—Madam, you may recollect that we printed yesterday your denial of having retracted your contradiction of your original statement. Would you care to have us say that you were misquoted in regard to it?—Life.

WITH THE GREEKS.

Pi Beta Phi will hold a house-warming in its new quarters on the third floor of 2024 G Street, on next Saturday night. The parents of the members and the faculty have been invited.

The Pan-Hellenic Association had a tea yesterday afternoon in the Pi Beta Phi rooms for Phi Mu, the newcomer among the University's sororities. Miss Elsie Yost is chairwoman of the committee on arrangements.

On last Saturday, Phi Mu gave an informal reception, entertaining among others, Dean Hodgkins, Dean Wilbur, Dean Ruediger, Professor McNemar, Leo C. Terry and John S. Bixler, Financial Secretaries of the Athletic Association, the Hatchet staff, Miss Mary H. Watkins, and the fathers of the members of the sorority. Mrs. Ruediger chaperoned.

Phi Alpha announces the pledging of Meyer Davis, Alfred Steinberg, A. B. '13, Graduate School; Edward Alexander Cafritz, Medical School, '17; Leon A. Tashof, C. C. '18; Walter W. Ostrow, C. C. '17, and Hymen Popkin, C. C. '17.

The Washington City Rho Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon held its annual Initiation-Founders Day banquet last Saturday evening at the University Club at ten o'clock.

Following the close of the initiation the "crowd" gathered at the Club. The banquet hall was beautifully decorated, a large S. A. E. being set off in jonquills and violets, representing the fraternity colors, royal purple and old gold. The room was converted into a veritable bower of clusters of American beauties, smilax and carnations presented by absent brothers in solicitation of a successful evening.

Although no member of either branch of the national legislature was represented upon the speakers' list because of the adjournment of that body on March fourth, the banquet suffered little, for oratorical eloquence scintillated throughout. Among those on this list were Judge Howry, Court of Claims; Jerry South, Clerk of the House; Samuel J. Graham, Assistant Attorney General; Daniel C. Roper, First Assistant Postmaster-General; Col. John G. Capers, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor, who served in the capacity of toastmaster in the most masterly style. The new men are Oliva Hasard Perry, Rufus Hardy, Jr., and Ivan Douglas Tefft.

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Donald Harrison McKnew, chairman, and Campbell Plugge.

On last Tuesday afternoon, Chi Omega held a tea for its patronesses in the sorority rooms on G Street.

Chi Omega announces that on tomorrow Miss Helen Monroe of Columbian College will be initiated into the mysteries of the order.

Sigma Kappa entertained Miss Marguerite Jacobs at lunch, Monday, March 15.

Wednesday, March 17, Helen Miles entertained the Sigma Kappas at a St. Patrick's Day card party.

Cards are out for the Spring Tea, to be given at the Kappa Sigma House, 1100 Vermont Avenue, Sunday, March the twenty-eighth.

Phi Sigma Kappa will hold its annual banquet at the University Club on Wednesday evening, March 24, at 8 o'clock.

On Monday, Pi Beta Phi entertained Rudolph Schoenfeld and Fenton M. Padely at lunch.

NEUTRALITY QUESTION UP.

Embargo On War Material Warmly Debated By Columbian Society.

One of the most important questions of the hour, whether the government should prohibit the exportation of war material from the United States, was the subject for the weekly debate of the Columbian Debating Society last Friday night. In the minds of Messrs. Stovall and Pendell of the affirmative, there was no doubt that the exportation of the war material should be stopped. Messrs. Wooley and Hastings, their opponents, were equally sure that the traffic should not be cut off. When the smoke of oratorical battle had cleared the opinion of the judges was that the affirmative was right. First and second honors were awarded to Messrs. Wooley and Hastings, respectively.

The places of the executive committee of the Society made vacant by the resignations of F. E. Van Schaick and W. L. Wanlass were filled by the election of Messrs. Marcus and Pendell. Mr. Van Schaick is now in Belgium and Mr. Wanlass has been appointed editor-in-chief of the year book of the Arts and Sciences department. His urgent duties in that position compelled him to give up his office in the Society.

There will be no regular debate of the Columbian Society tonight on account of the tryouts for the inter-society debate with the Philomathean Literary Society of the University of Pennsylvania. All members are requested to be present at the tryouts.
